

All About

Generic Drugs

A safe and more cost-effective alternative to brand-name drugs.

Same Active Ingredients

A generic drug has the same active ingredients and is chemically equal to a brand-name drug.

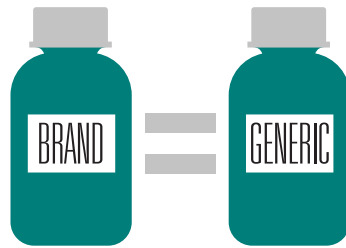

Just as safe

30%–80% Lower Cost

Just as Effective

Generic drugs have the same active ingredients, safety, quality, and intended use as brand-name drugs.

Same dose, strength, directions

Often made by same brand-name manufacturer

Cost Less

New drugs get a 20-year patent so other companies can't make or sell it. Once patent expires, other drug companies can apply to the FDA to sell the generic version.

No research costs

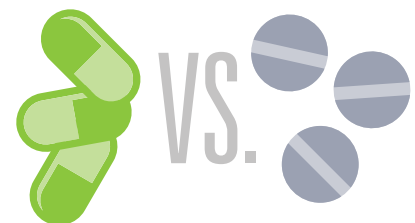

Increased competition lowers cost

Look Different

Trademark laws prevent generic drugs from looking like its brandname version.

Illegal to look like brand-name drugs

Different inactive ingredients
